Uncomfortable Conversations about Race and Racism

September 16 | Noon-1:00pm | ONLINE EVENT!

Our country is in a period of reckoning about racial injustice like we have never seen before. Protests against police violence, systemic racism, and oppressive symbolism have dominated the media. Many Americans are in an awakening about the impact of racism in their community and are looking for ways to engage friends and neighbors in these often considered taboo issues. For many, having conversations about race and racism is difficult, uncomfortable and maybe intimidating.

Pastor Mark Solyst and Diana DiazGranados will sit down together to discuss uncomfortable issues about race and racism, and how to lean into these important topics with the goal of showing how uncomfortable conversations can promote growth and understanding.
